MEANWHILE

THE MUSIC DIRECTOR
JUST PICKS A FEW
OF HER FAVOURITES

And what did you mean by that?

I was once on a Retreat conducted by that delightful idiosyncratic, Roland Walls. At one point in one of his addresses, he was reaching out for the ultimate in examples of the boundless love of God. To my amazement, I heard him say: "God loves helium, God loves carbon, God loves silicon!" I have no idea why those particular elements were chosen. Doubtless someone could find some mysterious numerical significance in the choice. But soon they began to work on me. These elements were certainly not random. Helium is the least reactive of all elements; its atoms float endlessly in space, never forming compounds with anything else. Silicon, on the other hand, is (along with oxygen) the main constituent of minerals. It forms compounds with almost everything: compounds which are beautiful and stable with their regular tightly bound arrays of atoms. Finally, carbon is the element at the basis of life, forming by far the largest number of compounds of any element, and giving rise to the flexibility and interdependence that makes life possible.

Shortly thereafter, I had to lead a set of intercessions for peace, and I quickly realised that I had been handed the perfect example, something really to make use of my own field. There were the helium atoms, at peace in a world of mutual invisibility. "I care for nobody, no, not I, and nobody cares for me!" The silicon atoms had peace too in rigid regiment, where all knew their places and stayed strictly in them. The peace and tranquillity of the mummy. Finally, we had the carbon atoms, whose life ran riot with no peace in sight but, were it not for them, and their struggles and their cooperation, there would have been no brains to contemplate the peace of the other atoms. So I used it.

The effect was mixed. I had one or two requests for copies and even an invitation to preach at a school chapel on the strength of these prayers. But the comment I was most expecting came from a sympathetic colleague to whom I showed them later. He looked through the copy, smiled, and said, "Yes, I can see what you are getting at, but I wouldn't have used it." I asked him why, and he said, "You really shouldn't use science that way. People will think that atoms really do behave like that, they just couldn't imagine that you could talk about something like atoms any other way."

From the Editor

This is quite a full issue but sadly there were only two contributors other than the Editor – our Pastor and Organist! It is not really the editor's place to write articles and posters for 'In Touch'. I do hope more people will feel able to contribute to the next issue. Please start writing now – I'm sure many of you have some very interesting items you can share with the rest of our congregation. News and communication is the cement that binds any congregation together in harmony.

Copy for the next issue of 'In Touch' will be welcomed at any time from now until the deadline of Sunday, 16th July.

Canal Cruise

A goodly number of us had a very enjoyable and relaxing time cruising the Union Canal from Ratho on Saturday, 29th April. We occupied three large canal boats from Seagull Trust Cruises: Mackay Seagull; St John Edinburgh and St John Crusader II. They are all fitted with a lift and plenty of comfy chairs, and (for warmer days) outside seating in the bows. We headed west at 10:30 am and our journey took us right through the tunnel/bridge where the canal goes under the M8, to the winding hole (canal-speak for turning point) just after the motorway arriving at 12:30 pm. Then, as our homeward journey began, the crew brought out tables and hot drinks and we all tucked into our packed lunches (some more luxurious than others!). The crew were also on-hand to answer any questions and to give details of any interesting sites en route. These included the very high and narrow aqueduct over the River Almond, the International Indoor Climbing Arena (the largest in the world!); Father Christmas's hide-away and a swans' nest. We passed under six bridges outward bound and eight bridges homeward bound (when we arrived back at Seagull Trust we had to go past our moorings, under Baird Road bridge into Ratho Marina to turn around and then back under Baird Road), arriving at our moorings at about 3:00 pm.

Our thanks to Seagull Trust Cruises for a great day out, and to the three crews. And of course a very special vote of thanks to Rosemary for organising such an enjoyable and relaxing adventure.

Dedication of the Bells

Our two new bells were dedicated at the 10:30 am Sung Eucharist service on Sunday, 7th May, and were 'rung-in' by Lord and Lady Morton. The Offertory hymn was 'Let bells peal forth the universal fame' by Peter R Baelz, and organ voluntaries were 'The Bells' by William Byrd and 'Air Composed for Holsworthy Church Bells' by Samuel Sebastian Wesley.

Carole MacBride supplied a cake for the celebration and the photograph shows Stewart, Lord Morton and his sister Lady Mary Pamela Callander cutting the cake.

Organist's Corner

Programme Notes for June and July
Alan John Phillips

Sunday 4th June - Pentecost

Prelude: Veni Creator –

Nicolas de Grigny (1671-1703)

Communion: Nun bitten wir den

Heiligen Geist (BuxWV 209) –

Dieterich Buxtehude (1637-1707)

Postlude: Paeon –

Herbert Howells (1892-1983)

Nicolas de Grigny died young and left behind a single collection of organ music (1699), which together with the work of François Couperin, represents the pinnacle of French Baroque organ tradition. Bach made a complete copy of it around 1713. The Veni Creator is a suite of five movements.

'The Pæan dates from May 1940. It takes the form of a vigorous toccata in D stemming from two contrasted themes. The first unfolds in a semiquaver stream over the initial tonic pedal Allegro sempre brio in three-four time. The second is chordal and more rhythmic and supplies the Largamente coda leading to the final major chord'. (Programme note © 1977 Felix Aprahamian)

Sunday 11th June – Trinity Sunday

Prelude: Prelude in E flat (BWV 552) –

Johann Sebastian Bach (1685-1750)

Communion: Slow movement from Trio Sonata no.3 (BWV 527)
 J S Bach

Postlude: Fugue in E flat ('St. Anne', BWV 552) – J S Bach

The final piece of Part Three of Bach's publication 'Clavierübung' (Keyboard Practice) has a subject which resembles William Croft's hymn tune 'St. Anne' hence the English nickname for this piece. It has Trinitarian symbolism on many levels: three flats in the key signature three sections the lengths of which are related to each other by a factor of three three different time signatures related to each other by a factor of three and three fugal subjects which combine perfectly with each other - three in one! This fugue has been described as probably the most perfect depiction of the Trinity in all of Western Art.

Sunday 18th June –
Pentecost 2

RSCM MUSIC SUNDAY
 THE 50:50 CAMPAIGN

Prelude: On wings of song – Felix Mendelssohn (1809-47)

arr. Ernest Haywood (played on the piano)

Communion: Elegy in memory of Gerald H. Knight –
Martin How (b.1931)

Postlude: Songs of Praise – Robert Prizeman (b.1952)

Music Sunday is the Royal School of Church Music's annual celebration of music in worship, hence the musical connections of the hymns and instrumental music today.

'On wings of song' is a poem by Heinrich Heine. It was published in 1827. Felix Mendelssohn set it to music as the second of his 'Six songs for voice and piano' (Opus 34-2, 1834). Ernest Haywood's arrangement for solo piano was published in 1931.

Gerald Knight (1908–1979), organist of Canterbury Cathedral, became Director of the RSCM between 1954 and 1973. Martin How, son of the late Most Revd J C H How, Primus of the Scottish Episcopal Church between 1946 and 1952, spent most of his career at the RSCM, and was the principal developer of the Chorister Training Scheme (now called 'Voice for Life').

Prizeman's toccata was written in 1986 as the theme music for the BBC's 'Songs of Praise', replacing a similarly-named piece by Herbert Chappell. Prizeman founded the choir 'Libera' in 1995.

Gerald Knight

Martin How

Sunday 25th June – Pentecost 3

Prelude: Prelude and Fugue in G major ('Well Tempered Clavier' Book 1 no.15) – Bach (played on the piano)

Communion: Prelude in E major ('Well Tempered Clavier' Book 1 no.9) - Bach

Postlude: Prelude and Fugue in G major (BWV 541) – Bach

A trio of joyful Bach pieces based on the ascending major triad (think of the beginning of 'Let all the world in every corner sing').

Sunday 2nd July – Pentecost 4

Prelude: Allabreve in D major (BWV 589) - Bach

Communion: Dona nobis pacem (Mass in B minor) - Bach

Postlude: Fantasia in G major (BWV 572) – Bach

'Alla breve' is a musical metre of two minim beats in the bar, designated by a time signature resembling a C with a line through it. It can also be written as 2/2. All three Bach pieces today have this time signature. The final chorus of the B minor Mass started life as the opening chorus of Cantata 29, a secular cantata, written for the 1731 Leipzig city council election!

Sunday 9th July – Pentecost 5

Prelude: Rejoice greatly ('Messiah') –

George Frideric Handel (1685-1759)

Communion: He shall feed his flock ('Messiah') - Handel

Postlude: His yoke is easy ('Messiah') – Handel

Handel's interpretation of extracts from the Bible readings for Pentecost 5: 'Rejoice greatly' from the first reading from Zechariah, 'He shall feed his flock' and 'His yoke is easy' from the Gospel.

Handel's autograph of 'Rejoice greatly'

Sunday 16th July – Pentecost 6

Early Scottish keyboard music

Prelude: Pavan: Johnson's Delight –

Edward Johnson, arr. Duncan Burnett (fl.1630s)

Communion: Kinloch his Lang pavane (beginning only) –

William Kinloch (16th cent.)

Postlude: Galliard of the Lang paven – William Kinloch

In contrast to the embarrassment of riches in the English virginal school, Scotland has very little surviving repertoire. William Kinloch worked during the reign of Mary, Queen of Scots, and Duncan Burnett, a Glasgow composer, during her son's reign. 'Johnson's Delight' also appears in the Fitzwilliam Virginal Book in an arrangement by William Byrd.

Sunday 23rd July – Pentecost 7
Organ music of Orlando Gibbons

Prelude: In nomine –

Orlando Gibbons (1583-1625)

Communion: A Fancy in A re –
Gibbons

Postlude: A Fancy in Gamut flatt –
Gibbons

Between 1596 and 1598 Gibbons sang in the Choir of King's College, Cambridge, where his brother Edward Gibbons (1568–1650), eldest of the four sons of William Gibbons, was master of the choristers. Orlando achieved the degree of Bachelor of Music in 1606. That same year he married Elizabeth Patten, daughter of a Yeoman of the Vestry, and they went on to have seven children (Gibbons himself was the seventh of 10 children).

King James I [of England, VI of Scotland] appointed him a Gentleman of the Chapel Royal, where he served as an organist from at least 1615 until his death. In 1623, he became senior organist at the Chapel Royal, with Thomas Tomkins as junior organist. He also held positions as keyboard player in the privy chamber of the court of Prince Charles (later King Charles I), and organist at Westminster Abbey. He died at age 41 in Canterbury of apoplexy, and was buried in Canterbury Cathedral. His wife, Elizabeth, died a little over a year later, in her mid-30s, leaving Orlando's eldest brother, Edward, to care for the orphaned children. Of these children only the eldest son, Christopher Gibbons, was to become a musician. (extracted from Wikipedia)

Sunday 30th July - Pentecost 8

Prelude: A Fancy in C fa ut – Gibbons

Communion: Fantasia – Gibbons

Postlude: A Fancy for a double Orgaine – Gibbons

A 'double organ' was merely an organ with two manuals, like our instrument at St. Mary's.

♪ All God's critters got a place in the choir ♪

Sunday Humour

A little boy had been very naughty and as a punishment his mother told him he would go without his favourite vegetable. He sat down for a meal, his mother served, carrots, corn, - - and? "It's no use waiting," said his mother, "I told you, no peas for the wicked."

A minister told his congregation, "Next week I plan to preach about the sin of lying. To help you understand my sermon, I want you all to read Mark 17."

The following Sunday, as he prepared to deliver his sermon, the minister asked for a show of hands. He wanted to know how many had read Mark 17. Every hand went up. The minister smiled and said, "Mark has only 16 chapters. I will now proceed with my sermon on the sin of lying."

On a sunny Sunday afternoon, two young church members were going door to door to invite people to visit their church. When they knocked on one door, it was immediately clear the woman who answered was not happy to see them.

She slammed the door in their faces, but to her surprise, it bounced back open.

Convinced these young people were sticking their foot in her door, she reared back to give it a slam that would teach them a lesson. Just then, one of them said quietly: "Madam, before you do that again, you really need to move your cat."

Three boys in the school playground were bragging about their fathers. The first boy said, "My Dad scribbles a few words on a piece of paper, he calls it a poem, they give him £50."

The second boy said, "That's nothing. My Dad scribbles a few words on a piece of paper, he calls it a song, they give him £100."

The third boy said, "I got you both beat. My Dad scribbles a few words on a piece of paper, he calls it a sermon, and it takes eight people to collect all the money!"
